Fall 2020 Travel Plans Due to COVID-19

While we are moving forward with plans for Fall 2020/AY 2020-2021, programs are subject to postponement or cancellation as the COVID-19 situation evolves. Please read the following recommendations concerning Fall 2020/AY 2020-2021 study abroad programs.

THE FOLLOWING GUIDELINES SHOULD BE OBSERVED UNTIL STUDY ABROAD NOTIFIES YOU OTHERWISE.

- ▶ DO... proceed with course pre-approvals and registration at your host institution.
- ▶ DO... research housing arrangements and apply for housing at host institution.
- ▶ DO... register for on-campus classes at UArizona, as usual, as a backup.
- ▶ DO... stay in touch with your Study Abroad Coordinator about your program-specific deadlines, including application, registration, and commitment.
- ▶ DO... think about housing arrangements in Tucson (on or off-campus) in case your Fall program is cancelled.
- ▶ DO... research your visa requirements.

- ▶ DON'T... drop UArizona courses -- even if you receive your host institution acceptance letter (not typical instructions).
- ▶ DON'T... purchase flight, unless you also purchase cancel-for-any-reason travel insurance or a fully-refundable* flight.

Please carefully read the fine print of any airline cancellation policy, as each airline may have different terms and you will be responsible for any charges.*

- ▶ DON'T... put any money down for housing arrangements in host city.
- ▶ DON'T... pay for travel arrangements to apply for a visa.
- ▶ DON'T... schedule your Campus Health appointment until notified by Study Abroad.
