MAURITIUS: A REGIONAL HUB OF INNOVATION AND TECHNOLOGY IN A MULTICULTURAL SETTING

The University of Mauritius is a research-engaged and entrepreneurial institution. The main campus in Réduit, in the Moka District, is near the stunning capital city of Port Louis.

Dual-degree students also enjoy access to modern classrooms in Ebène Cyber City, a hub of information technology for African and Asian markets just a short walk from the main campus.

The island has a rich cultural heritage. Festivals and celebrations, as well as the cuisine, represent the ethnic diversity of its people, and are a blend of Creole, Chinese, European, and Indian influences.

Weather in Mauritius is mild throughout the year, and weekend trips include visits to some of the world’s finest beaches on the Indian Ocean.
Mauritius is easily reachable by direct flights from Africa, Asia, Europe, India, and U.A.E.
DREAM OF STUDYING ABROAD?

Students may complete their degrees entirely in Mauritius, or have the option to study abroad for a summer, semester, or longer.
Students in any of the Arizona-UoM dual-degree programs can begin their course of study in Mauritius, and choose to spend a summer or a semester at the University of Arizona campus at a low cost.

The palm-tree-lined campus in Tucson, AZ, is known as one of the most beautiful in the United States.
TUITION

$6,000 USD yearly for international students

$3,000 USD yearly for Mauritian students

Students should plan for approximately $500 USD monthly for accommodation and living expenses. Estimate $200 USD per year for books and classroom materials.
