

International Women's Day

LUNCHEON ▶ THURS, MARCH 8, 2018

#PressforProgress

Insight from Around the World

Noon to 2:00 p.m. | Silver & Sage Room, Old Main, UA Campus

JOIN US FOR A SPECIAL LUNCHEON & DISCUSSION!

Now, more than ever, there's a strong call-to-action to press forward and progress gender parity. The call to #PressforProgress is motivating and uniting friends, colleagues and whole communities to think, act and be gender inclusive.

WHAT: You are invited to a luncheon where a panel will represent women with experiences from all over the world, sharing insight about how women from different regions are pressing for progress. The moderator will be Dr. Janet Sturman, Ph.D. (Associate Dean, Graduate College)

This event is FREE.

Seating is limited, so please RSVP:

[global.arizona.edu/
international-womens-day](http://global.arizona.edu/international-womens-day)

Contact Hilary Beggs: hbeggs@email.arizona.edu

THE PANEL

Moderator: Dr. Janet Sturman, Ph.D. (Associate Dean, Graduate College). Dr. Sturman is an ethnomusicologist and pianist. Her research centers on the role of music in ethnic and social identity.

Jennifer Donahue, Ph.D. (Assistant Professor, Africana Studies). Dr. Jennifer Donahue specializes in contemporary Caribbean literature with a focus on the relationship between narrative, trauma, and sexual politics.

Maha Nassar, Ph.D. (Assistant Professor, School of Middle Eastern and North African Studies). Dr. Nassar studies cultural and intellectual history of the twentieth-century Arab world.

Anna Ochoa O'Leary, Ph.D. (Department Head, Mexican American Studies). Dr. O'Leary's research and teaching interests focus on the education, culture and urban politics of Mexican/U.S.-Mexican populations.

Jadwiga Pieper-Mooney, Ph.D. (Associate Professor, History, Gender and Women's Studies). Dr. Pieper-Mooney teaches about Latin America, gender, and comparative/global and world history with a focus on gender.